

I needed the BEST divorce attorneys and was referred to Meighan Harmon.

Claire McKenzie also joined the team. It took almost 3 years, cost almost 2 million dollars BECAUSE, my ex tried to play games, not release the assets when the divorce was finalized, lied under oath and a whole list of things he pulled because he left me and then, a month later, I HAD to file for a divorce.

I am doing fine, with Claire McKenzie's persistence and Meighan's stunning performance in court. However, we were billed and I ended up splitting the cost of the entire divorce. You get what you pay for.

Any less expensive law firm, I believe, could not have performed at this level.

This was August 2012 until November 2014. Assets were not released until six months later, May 2015, which was what drove the fees through the roof!
I am quite happy with the results.
